Interactive methodology
Interact with yourself on the level of the others interact with the others and on the level of the environment interact with them environment

Critical literacy
In critical literacy approach, we all together engage in experiences that are really meaningful in terms of not just sticking to the surface of things. What we see what we hear, what we learn what we do. But also dive into the real substance of things.

Micro learning self-directed learning umbrella of methodologies and approaches with micro learning. We learn how to And communicate the message in no time, because we deal with very brief texts. Very simple texts where they can give you the opportunity to learn and in without too much.

HOW TO BE A EDUPRENEUR

Adapting to change

Really critical and you need to embrace change because change happens all the time and we have x. We are experiencing changes almost every day and every meet and on a second note, I think that we need to devote time devote time in the context of teaching and learning, we need to devote time to learn. We need to devote enough time to understand and we need to vote much time to act. so after learning, we need to understand and then act,

Sharing

sharing is also critical nowadays. You cannot Be everywhere in in every change in every innovation. So it's always good to share. Sharing is caring like we say. So adapt and embrace change. Devote time to learn, understand and act. And why we act let's also share
